CITIZEN SCIENCE

STE: SCUBA TOURISM FOR THE ENVIRONMENT – RED SEA BIODIVERSITY MONITORING PROGRAM (www.STEproject.org)

In collaboration with: Ministry of Tourism of the Arab Republic of Egypt, Egyptian Underwater and Lifesaving Federation, Project AWARE Foundation (Switzerland), Association of Italian Tour Operators, Scuba Nitrox Safety International, Scuba Schools International, Underwater Life Project, TuttoTurismo, Neos, Italian Ministry of the Environment and Land and Sea Protection.

Main Objectives:

- To involve dive tourists in the collection of data on the marine biodiversity in the area of Sharm el Sheikh and the Egyptian Red Sea
- To promote environmental education and to improve the naturalistic awareness of tourists
- To promote the development of sustainable tourism
- To enhance the naturalistic resources of the Red Sea
- To contribute to the maintenance of the coral reefs of the Red Sea
- To spread the positive image of tourist activity in general and of the recreational scuba diving in particular
- To divulge in Egypt, Europe and throughout the world a model of balanced exploitation of natural resources
- To give an additional value to recreational dives

CORAL ECOLOGY AND BIOLOGY

CORALWARM. CORALS AND GLOBAL WARMING: THE MEDITERRANEAN VERSUS THE RED SEA (WWW.CORALWARM.EU)

In collaboration with Prof. Zvy Dubinsky (Bar Ilan University) and Prof. Giuseppe Falini (Chemistry Department, University of Bologna). Project funded by ERC: the European Research Council (FP7 IDEAS program, European Commission, EU).

CoralWarm will generate for the first time projections of temperate and subtropical coral survival by integrating sublethal temperature increase effects on metabolic and skeletal processes in Mediterranean and Red Sea key species. CoralWarm unique approach is from the nano- to the macro-scale, correlating molecular events to environmental processes. This will show new pathways to future investigations on cellular mechanisms linking environmental factors to final phenotype, potentially improving prediction powers and paleoclimatological interpretation. Biological and chemical expertise will merge, producing new interdisciplinary approaches for ecophysiology and biomineralization. Field transplantations will be combined with controlled experiments under IPCC scenarios. Corals will be grown in aquaria, exposing the Mediterranean species native to cooler waters to higher temperatures, and the Red Sea ones to gradually increasing above ambient warming seawater. Virtually all state-of-the-art methods will be used, by uniquely combining the investigators' expertise. Expected results include responses of algal symbionts' photosynthesis, host, symbiont and holobiont respiration, biomineralization rates and patterns, including colony architecture, and reproduction to temperature and pH gradients and combinations. Integration of molecular aspects of potential replacement of symbiont clades, changes in skeletal crystallography, with biochemical and physiological aspects of temperature response, will lead to a novel mechanistic model predicting changes in coral ecology and survival prospect. High-temperature tolerant clades and species will be revealed, allowing future bioremediation actions and establishment of coral refuges, saving corals and coral reefs for future generations

MICROGRAVITY BIOMINERALIZATION

(SPACEBIOMAT)

In collaboration with Prof. Zvy Dubinsky (Faculty of Life Sciences, Bar Ilan University), Prof. Giuseppe Falini (Chemistry Department, University of Bologna), and Jaap Kaandorp (Section Computational Science, University of Amsterdam). Project funded by ESA: European Space Agency.

Goal: the development of an orbiting aquatic biomineralization research module (the space bioreactor). The module shall provide a unique possibility to investigate the micro-morphology of biominerals and gene expression patterns (transcriptomics experiments) under low gravity conditions, and the process by which the cells sense gravity-induced changes in their local environment. Several non-academic and academic partners are involved.
